

CFC Guide for those Retiring from Federal Service

Human Resources Professionals

As you process Federal employees' retirements, we ask that you include some information about the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC). After years of public service, Federal retirees may want to continue giving back to their community, country, and people around the world. The CFC is a great way to extend that spirit of service. And, Federal and military retirees have a big impact on the campaign. In 2023, this group gave $5.1 million – 7.6% of the overall CFC total.

Please provide the following pages to Federal employees as a part of their out-processing paperwork:

- Retiring from Federal Service?
- Here's How the CFC Works for Federal Retirees
- Federal Retiree Pledge Form (downloaded from GiveCFC.org)

Retiring from Federal service?

Federal and military retirees have a huge impact on the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC). In 2023, this group contributed more than $5.1 million, 7.6% of overall donations. After your years of public service, Federal retirees like you may want to continue giving back to your community, country, and people around the world. Giving through the CFC is an excellent way to maintain your commitment to service and support important causes.

Existing CFC Recurring Pledge

If you have an existing CFC Giving account and pledged via credit/debit card or bank account, you don't have to do anything. Your pledge will continue for the rest of the year. Great news!

Existing CFC Payroll Deduction

If you pledged via payroll deduction through the CFC, you will need to log in to your CFC Online Giving account and change your profile status to "retiree" and your pledge source to "annuity".

No Existing CFC Pledge

No problem! If you would like to make a pledge at this point, visit GiveCFC.org and click the donate button. Create your CFC Online Giving account and pledge via annuity deduction, credit/debit card, or bank account.

Next year, as a Federal retiree, be on the lookout for emails and messaging from Retirement Services regarding the CFC.

How the CFC Works for Federal Retirees

The CFC, an OPM initiative, offers the Federal community the opportunity to donate to thousands of participating charities. Here's how it works:

1. Choose your cause.

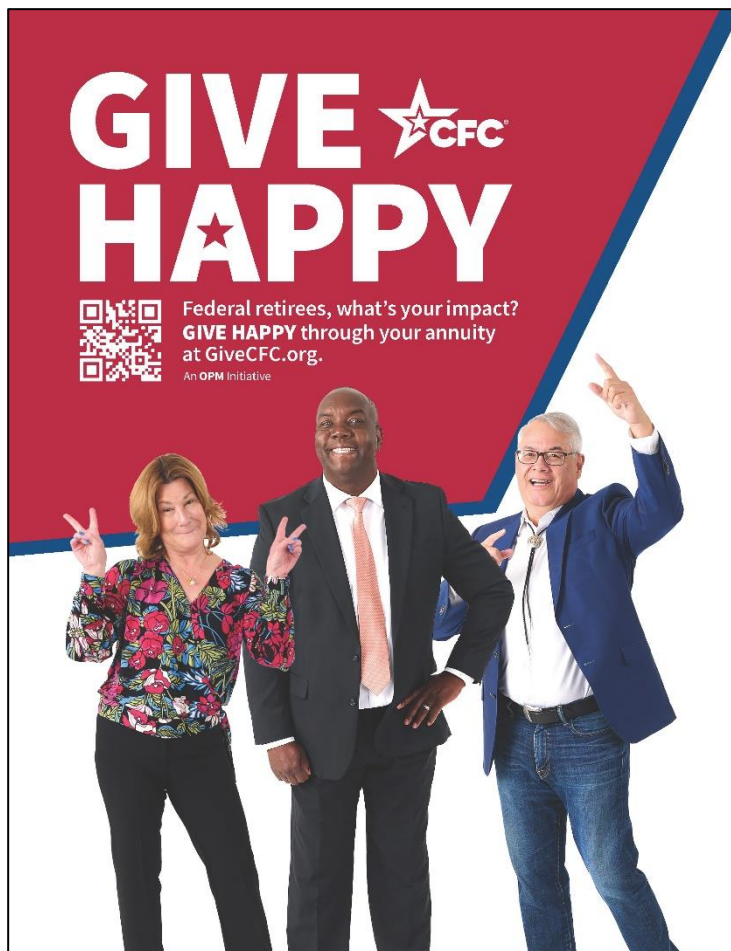

Whether you care about finding cures for diseases, supporting military families, promoting equality, or helping those in need, the CFC has vetted charities for any cause you are passionate about. You can even give to multiple charities with one pledge.

2. Complete your pledge.

GIVE HAPPY by donating from your annuity, credit/debit card, or bank transfer. Visit GiveCFC.org to get started. And, keep the CFC in mind if you need to make a minimum required distribution from your retirement account.

3. Make an impact.

Thousands of charities receive the support they need throughout the year. Together, our collective contributions lead to significant positive impact and greater happiness in our communities.

Did you know?

Federal retirees can also serve on Local Federal Coordinating Committees (LFCC). The LFCC is a volunteer body in each CFC zone acting in a Board of Directors capacity in collaboration with OPM and Outreach Coordinator contractors to implement a successful campaign, review local charity applications, and maintain oversight of campaign activities within their zone to ensure regulatory compliance. Contact us at CFCSupport@charity.org if you are interested in serving.